

A POWERFUL DIFFERENCE

Workplace Violence Prevention Training

With 1 in 4 HR professionals reporting an incident of workplace violence (WPV) during the past year*, training is more imperative than ever. Training makes an impact. It can mean the difference between a violent incident (or not), survival (or not), and lasting psychological damage (or not).

TRAINED VS. UNTRAINED EMPLOYEES

	 TRAINED EMPLOYEES	 UNTRAINED EMPLOYEES
 PREVENTION	Training empowers a bias toward action <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● "If you see something, say something" becomes the mindset ● Concerning behaviors recognized and action taken ● Team members committed to "looking out for each other" 	Lack of knowledge = Lack of Awareness = Lack of Prevention <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Warning signs missed all together ● Concerning behaviors witnessed but not recognized ● Early prevention opportunities missed
 EMERGENCY RESPONSE	People know what to do, when to do it, and how to do it <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Planned responses and proactive actions taken on behalf of self and others ● "Mental Permission" to take action, such as RUN HIDE FIGHT or GET OUT GET SAFE GET TOUGH™ ● Survival mindset and learned optimism instilled 	No plan leads to the wrong plan <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Independent, impulsive actions...dangerous to self and others ● Risky, self-protection measures often less effective than team approach ● Panic, sense of helplessness can overwhelm and paralyze
 POST EMERGENCY	Post-event recovery significantly enhanced <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Individuals better able to bounce back-experience less distress ● Organizational damage to brand and reputation minimized ● Organization confident in having met its moral obligation to employees and community 	Post-event recovery can be long and painful <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Post-incident recovery time increases for individuals ● Damage to brand and reputation for organization is incurred ● Organization missed opportunity to meet its moral obligation to "duty of care"
